

Making Sandwell a better place to live for autistic people

Sandwell Council wants to make Sandwell a better place for everyone to live, including autistic people.

Sandwell Council has asked Changing Our Lives to work with autistic people, their families and professionals to make a plan to make life better for autistic people living in Sandwell.

We want Sandwell to be a place where autistic people are accepted, understood and can live fulfilling and rewarding lives.

We want to talk to autistic people, their families and professionals.

We want to find out what needs to be done to make Sandwell a better place to live for autistic people.

We will think about lots of different things:

- Having a home
- Being part of my community
- Independence and learning new skills
- Being safe from bullying

- Having good health
- Friendships and relationships
- Getting the right support
- Having things to do
- Getting paid work
- Travel

- Helping people understand about autism

Changing Our Lives will hold workshops at
The Portway Lifestyle Centre on Tuesday 3rd December 2019
10.00am – 12.00md
And
1.00pm - 3.00pm
